

Contributing to the Global Environment and a Sustainable Society

Our company has always carried out its activities emphasizing on business results and contributing to society, which communicates our company mission “Quality is our top priority at all times...”

Our lives have become more convenient because of our advancing information society but the damage to our global environment is extremely adverse.

Our semiconductor products have had a major role in contributing to the advancement our information society by producing high performance and multi-functional products. We will continue in our efforts toward energy and resource conservation by producing environmentally-friendly products that will not have an adverse affect on our environment throughout its life cycle, including its retirement into our earth.

It is our hope that this report will assist everyone in understanding our initiatives as part of the ROHM Group corporate responsibility.
